Somewhere between Stack Overflow and YouTube tutorials

PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Highly motivated professional pretender with extensive experience in copy-pasting code and looking busy while actually watching YouTube tutorials. Specialized in creating bugs faster than anyone can fix them and saying "It works on my machine" with unwavering confidence.

CORE COMPETENCIES

- Advanced Googling (PhD level)
- Stack Overflow Copy-Pasting (10+ years experience)
- Console.log Debugging (Only debugging method I know)
- Impostor Syndrome (Native fluency)
- Blaming the Backend Team (Expert level)
- Saying "It works on my machine" (World champion)
- Creating 500 errors from simple buttons (Guinness World Record)
- Asking ChatGPT for help (Daily practice)

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Professional Code Destroyer, Definitely Not NIO Inc. (Aug 2022 - Dec 2022)

- Successfully broke every single feature I touched
- Turned a simple login button into a 500-error generator
- Spent 90% of time asking ChatGPT how to fix my own mess
- Mastered the art of looking busy while Stack Overflow was down
- Achieved 100% success rate in blaming other team members

Chief Bug Producer, University of Chaos (May 2022 - Jul 2022)

- Maintained a Financial Platform by constantly breaking it
- Created bugs faster than senior developers could fix them
- Invented new ways to crash browsers with simple CSS
- My greatest achievement: made a graph display random numbers and called it "dynamic data visualization"

EDUCATION

MSc in Pretending to Code, University of Non-Existence (Sep 2023 - May 2024)

- Specialized in Advanced Googling and Stack Overflow Studies
- Graduated with honors in "Looking Busy While Watching Tutorials"
- Thesis: "Why I Have No Actual Skills: A Comprehensive Study"

BA in Fictional Languages, University of Make-Believe (Sep 2019 - Jun 2023)

- Learned to speak fluent nonsense
- Minor in Creative Excuse Making
- GPA: 3.81/4.0 (mostly from attendance points)

PROJECTS

Next.js Multilingual Starter Template (Epic Failure Edition)

- Attempted modern development on a 2018 MacBook Pro
- Every npm install took 20 minutes, hot reload was "cold crawl"
- Laptop sounded like jet engine compiling TypeScript
- Held together by prayers and Stack Overflow answers

JobHunter - The Scammer's Paradise Platform

- Built comprehensive job platform, discovered 99% were scammers
- Perfect ecosystem for MLM schemes and crypto fraudsters
- At least the code is clean! ■■■■

SGmusic - The Cursor Subscription Casualty

- Ambitious music platform until Cursor Pro expired
- Went from AI-powered wizard to syntax-forgetting mortal

Standard PyOxidizer - The Hubris Chronicles

- Forever frozen at 60% completion due to poverty
- Decided to rewrite Python's standard library in Rust
- Armed with 3 weeks Python experience and dangerous confidence
- Crashed harder than my ego when reality hit
- Monument to developer hubris

TECHNICAL SKILLS

Languages: JavaScript (with lots of 'any' types), TypeScript (barely), Python (still Google how to reverse a list), HTML/CSS (copy-paste level)

Frameworks: React (break things edition), Next.js (confusion mode), Vue (what's the difference again?), Express (404 specialist)

Tools: Git (commit -m "fix"), VS Code (with 50+ extensions I don't understand), Chrome DevTools (F12 is my best friend), Stack Overflow (my real IDE)

Databases: MongoDB (NoSQL = No Skills), MySQL (forgot all SQL syntax)

CERTIFICATIONS & ACHIEVEMENTS

- Certified Stack Overflow Copy-Paste Expert (Self-proclaimed)
- World Record: Most "It works on my machine" statements in one day
- Achievement Unlocked: Made senior developer cry with my code
- Honorary Degree in Creative Excuse Making
- Lifetime Achievement Award in Impostor Syndrome

LANGUAGES

- English (Native - for making excuses)
- JavaScript (Broken - mostly syntax errors)
- Python (Beginner - still Googling basic syntax)
- Mandarin (Conversational - for ordering takeout while debugging)
